① Joint Use Field

Holmes Elementary is located in the community of Clairemont, surrounded by a residential neighborhood. The student population is mainly from these residents. The school received the high designation of being a California Department of Education Distinguished School in 2012 and 2018. Parent involvement is the key to their success, as well as their many and varied enrichment programs.

Built in the Mid-Century Modern that was popular in the 1950s, the campus has 40,151 square feet of facility space consisting of six permanent buildings and 12 portable classrooms buildings. These facilities house administration offices, classrooms, additional learning spaces, a library, and a multipurpose room with food services.
