The current location of King Chavez Primary, Arts & Athletics Academies was originally the Stockton Elementary and later as King Elementary Campus. King Chavez Neighborhood of Schools moved onto the King Elementary campus in 2005. The focus of the school is closing the achievement gap of the local students and their suburban counterparts. They promote educational reform and are developing local leaders. The Primary, Arts and Athletics is one of six charter schools and they engage students through academics, arts and athletics. At this campus, they house approximately 760 students from grades Kindergarten to 5th.

The original Stockton ES campus was built in 1915 and consisted of four buildings. In 1948, two more buildings were added. In 1963, the four buildings from 1915 were demolished and three buildings were built in their place. Currently, there are six permanent buildings for classrooms, administration, multipurpose and kitchen and library. An additional 17 portable classroom buildings were added to accommodate the growing student population.
